

Race, Income and Education relationships and distributions of the Illinois Cook County census tract

Two categorical datasets of majority race and majority income and two continuous variables of percent of individuals with a bachelor's degree and percent of individuals that only speak English were acquired from the Illinois Cook County census tract. The distribution of data are illustrated through a series of figures and begin to uncover the spatial relationships between the variables.

